

Who should determine the conditions of our livelihood?

How does a Biblical vision of economic justice and abundance inform our communities' struggles for fair work and wages for all?

"God Listens to the Cries of Workers"
— Dt 24:14f

A Word and World Minischool

On Faith and Labor

With Biblical Scholar/Theologian Ched Myers,

also featuring

Rev. Peter Laarman, Executive Director of PCU (Progressive Christians Uniting)

Rev. Alexia Salvatierra, Executive Director of CLUE, (Clergy and Laity United for Economic Justice)

Rev. Matthew Colwell, Program Partner at BCM (Bartimaeus Cooperative Ministries)

And with special musical guest: Zehnder

9:00 am - 4:30 pm, March 11, 2006, Brentwood Presbyterian Church

It was the struggle for workers' rights that brought Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. to the city of Memphis on the day of his assassination. That work continues and is now more urgent than ever. Join us March 11th, 2006, for Bible study, social analysis, worship, music and conversation as we explore the intersection of faith and labor.

This one-day Southern California event is intended as an exploration and preview of the upcoming Word and World Faith and Labor School set for July 2006 in Memphis. (See www.WordandWorld.org for more information.) That week-long Memphis school will be a time to remember Dr. King, foster our communities and coalitions, and engage in the struggle for social and economic justice.

Word & World is a school, a celebration, a movement. With each school rooted in a different city, this "moveable institute" seeks to provide education, training, and capacity-building for Christian disciples dedicated to the work of social transformation.

Cost: $15 including lunch, scholarships available;

Location: Brentwood Presbyterian Church

12000 San Vicente Blvd.

West Los Angeles, CA 90049

Reservations deadline: March 4th

For more information, visit the Brentwood Pres website:

www.bpcusa.org, or contact: Donna Freiermuth

donna@organic-design.net or Nancy Smith

NSmith@bpcusa.org, 310.826.5656.